We will speak to health (4) ..... and they will tell us what health technology does and how it helps us.

4. Read the following text and answer the questions :

Being creative means you have the ability to use your imagination to make things or to have new ideas about something.

In the past, many people thought you only needed to be creative for art or design jobs, such as photography, painting or writing. Some people thought they didn't need to be creative if they didn't want to be an artist, actor or musician. However, being creative is very important for most jobs, even ones in science, maths and technology.

Being creative should start when children are very young. Research shows that if children draw, sing, dance and do creative activities, they will do better at maths and reading.

At work, creative people aren't afraid of looking at things differently and trying something new. If there is a problem that doesn't have a simple answer, creative people will try new and interesting ways to solve the problem. For example, a chef will make a delicious meal with only a few things.

A. Choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d :

Food can help us to stay healthy and get better when we're sick. In Chinese medicine, there is the belief that both food and medicine come from the same place, and therefore, food can be used to help people just like medicine can. Food is put into two groups : "heating" foods (food with lots of calories and spicy food) and "cooling" foods (food with not many calories and sour or watery food , like soup). You need to eat "heating" foods when you have a "cold" sickness , such as feeling cold or very tired . You need to eat "cooling" foods when you have a "hot" sickness, such as red skin.

Traditional medicine in Bali, Indonesia uses a combination of food and therapies such as massages to help ill people to get better. The food that is given to sick people needs to be natural and fresh, and it's usually herbs and spices. Balinese people often drink juices mixed with spices to stay healthy or help them to get better when they're sick, for example.
